

#145

Something sits in corners of the house
scratching itself incessantly.

Tries to tell me the family was closer
when we shared one pot of coffee.

It may be right, but what would I know about interpreting shades.