

#148

Eyeballs pour out theater windows,
dribbling & burning down Majestic's sign,
exploded out of a Barbasol can.
Smells like the turn of a century
with the weight of now, antiquated anchors built without foresight.

This city should have been a whaling town & sank mythic,
burning the candle at both ends.