

#170

We choose people like fruit
& pick our shells off early, neurotic cicadas
ready to complain about being cold.

You suggest we carve our names into electric skies hoping
the legacy will outlive our narcissism.