

#318

young and in motion, boring bad decisions and bad math into the pillars of the world.
girls and boys paint each other with honest dirt found in the ground with a path into mountains

to a cavern

where the shape of wrong waits after dragging geometry by the hair into the darkness of a night that needed to end hours ago.