

#79

It's a miracle the veins in my eyes
can find their way to the center.
Nobody can blame them for getting lost in all that white,
with only brown to look forward to.
Catacombs grow thick from snake alchemy,
maps marked with ways out
sold in the adjacent gift shop.