

#86

I want to die inside the hum of a planet
covered by dunes, acid rain
a tomb with only complacency to loot.

There are gods buried, deep,
in every world. Every vial of time.
They miss each other,
but none are willing to make the drive.
Orbit is infinite, there's always time
to call tomorrow.