

#94

Pry me open with a crowbar,
a little boy trapped behind my ribcage,
holding back tears.
He's drowning between two waves,
clawing each other apart
before they've made landfall.